VIDEO SHOWING OF THE DOCUMENTARY
BLACK PANTHERS: THE VANGUARD OF THE REVOLUTION

From its inception in October of 1966, The Black Panther Party was the most controversial, most feared and most admired movement formation in the history of Black liberation struggles in U.S. history. Controversial because its manner of addressing issues confronting Black and other oppressed people was a cause of discomfort. Most feared – especially by the government and the ruling forces of this society – because it was an example of resistance for Black and other oppressed communities. Most admired because Blacks and other oppressed people appreciated the courageous stands it took on their behalf. In recognition of the 50th Anniversary of its founding and its now 5 decades old legacy, former Party members are holding tributes across the country, the largest of which will be in Oakland October 20-24 at the Oakland Museum. This event is part of that national celebration.

Suggested donation sliding-scale $5-$10. No one turned away.
